

To whom it may concern,

Although Peavey Mart has enjoyed a great year despite the economic downturn, we felt that we needed an attitude change and some inspiration as we entered 2010.

We hired Roy Prevost to deliver a three hour inspirational event and he delivered in spades!

Roy joined us the day before his talk so he could gauge the attitude and morale of the group, then he went about making changes to the presentation to reflect the mood of the room.

He held everyone spellbound as he delivered his hard hitting, stop whining, you are professionals, presentation

The response was overwhelmingly positive and many of our employees remarked how this was exactly what was needed to wake everyone up and give them a jolt of reality.

We would recommend Roy Prevost to any company who wants to jumpstart their employees' attitude and remind them of their professionalism.

Sincerely
Brian Dagg
