Dear Roy,

Please allow me to extend my sincerest congratulations for an outstanding keynote address given to the business owners of New Westminster, on the evening of the Celebration of Business Excellence Awards, November 16, 2005.

As keynote speaker, your enthusiasm, professionalism, wisdom and ability to understand the struggle of small and large business in this changing economy was reiterated again and again by all the guests that evening. The Chamber received many calls the next day specifically to compliment your contribution and to ask that you return for another speaking engagement.

You clearly motivate your audience, are well informed of current business trends and succeed in delivering your message succinctly and with humor. The lengthy applause was its own testimonial as well.

My sincerest appreciation for such an inspirational and refreshing talk and I, and I'm sure 140 other attendees that evening, look forward to hearing you speak again.

Sincerely,

Rose Nadon
